No. 7

Editorial

This being our last number of THE SKYLANDER for the year, we wish to thank the press, staff, the teachers, and those who have contributed, for their co-operation in making our magazine a success. Especially do we thank those who by their advertising have helped to finance our school paper.

THE SKYLANDER has proved a great benefit to us in our English work. In preparing the material for the first magazine, which came out in November, we found it necessary to have standards for our contributions. Since that time we have worked on the single-phase idea, and before our compositions are submitted for publication they are measured by our standards for a title and a paragraph. We hope that you have enjoyed the magazines by finding their contents interesting.

On the sixth of April in '22,
The stars of West Asheville in suits of blue
Went with hopes to the Montford ground
To make the bases a merry-go-round.

The wish came true of the sturdy nine,
For the beaten teams they left behind.
The pennant was waiting at the Y. M. C. A.
For the West Asheville boys in blue and gray.

JOHN CORBIN, 7B Grade.

The Game I Like Best

I like to play the Harvester's game. The children take little baby steps. They run around and around each other.

JULIAN DOAK BROOKSHIRE, 1A Grade.

I like to play "Pussy Wants a Corner." The pussy mews at them. She tries to get their places.

LOUISE VAN VALKENBURGH, 1B Grade.

I like to play Tap Hand. The one who is "It" taps some one. Then that one tries to catch the catcher.

MAGDALENE BAUMGARDNER, 1B Grade.

Saving a Tie

It was the last inning of the game between Park and West Asheville. There were two boys on bases. The batters knocked two flies which were caught by Kenneth Miller. This prevented Park from scoring, thus saving a tie.

6B Grade.

A Three-Base Hit

At the opening of the game Wooten was at the bat. One man was on second base awaiting a chance to steal third. On the next ball pitched, Wooten knocked it far into the road, making a three-base hit and scoring the man on second.

KENNETH MILLER, 6B Grade.

H. M. Dill on Play

Play is a large and influential, nay more, a fundamental and inevitable factor in the production and development of a child and its character. The play spirit is present in all mentally and physically healthy children, and it is a factor which educators must reckon with;

yes, the manner and degree in which it manifests itself is a criterion of the mental and physical condition of the child.

Play is one of nature's methods of promoting physical growth, of stimulating mentality, of developing social leadership, of cultivating moral and spiritual qualities, of relieving irritability, in fact, in keeping us young and elastic.

Through games, and especially group of team games, boys are taught honesty, fair play, loyalty, to respect the rights of others, obedience, courage, alertness, good judgment, not to take unfair advantage, self-control that keeps him calm when others are excited and alarmed, the self-reliance that gives him confidence in times of danger. If play did nothing more than give to the boys worthy, clean-cut, manly ideals, it would do a noble work and the value to the individual boy would be immeasurably great.

After all, the moral benefit is largely a matter of "what manner of man" is the leader, coach or physical director. If the instructor is, as some unfortunately are, merely interested in victory, then the despicable vices of dishonesty, deceit, brutality and selfishness are sure to detract from the moral value of games.

An eminent scientist has said that morality is largely a question of circulation; flabby muscles and flabby character usually go together. A torpid liver or a bad stomach spoils the sweetest disposition. A young man with a weak and untrained body stands a poor chance against the temptations of city life, or of making a business success. Physical training is mental training, and is an important factor in self-control and higher living. A weakling makes a poor Christian: the twentieth century puts a premium on robust Christianity.

When the one great scorer comes to write against your name at the end of the game of life, He writes—not that you won or lost—but how you played the game.

OUR FIELD DAY

The Broad Jump

It was during the broad jump. I jumped but did not go far. Maxine Kithcart slipped and fell. When we measured the jumps we found that Maxine had won the game.

ETHEL WILSON, 6B Grade.

Our Champion Runner

It was a relay race between the 6A and 6B girls. Grace Peterson started last but came out first. She slid to the mark and fell, still the champion of the two grades.

ADDIE PEARSON, 6B Grade.

A Slide

Our grade was racing against Mrs. Howell's grade. The last girl was running on each side. When the girl on our side was between third and home she slid almost in and then fell, causing our side to lose by a slide.

MARY ELLIS, 6B Grade.

The Part of Field Day I Shall Enjoy

What I shall enjoy on Field Day are running broad jump and running the diamonds. It will be interesting to see which one in the class or the entire school can jump the farthest or run the swiftest. Only the best runners and best jumpers can enter the contests on Field Day.

MILDRED E. TEAGUE, 6A Grade.

Do Our Field Day Exercises Give Us Health

On our Field Day we have all kinds of athletic sports. We play basket ball, baseball, run races, have contests, and have the long jump. These exercises build for us strong muscles, and health. Yes, our exercises give us health.

JUANITA BAILEY, 6A Grade.

What a Lively Game Teaches Us

A lively game teaches us to stay awake. It teaches us to be on the alert, to be on the watch, and not look off to something else that is going on. Most of our lively games in contest, like baseball or dare base, teach us to work with all our might.

WILLY A. HENDERSON, 6A Grade.

What We Do on Field Day

On Field Day we have races, jumping, and other exercises. We take the best runners and jumpers of each grade. We have contests between the grades to see which grade wins.

MAXINE KITHCART, 6A Grade.

What a Game of Bean Bag Teaches Us

A game of bean bag teaches us to be quick of mind. Again, it teaches us to be quick of action because we have to catch the bag as it comes. The reason it makes us quick of mind is that the teacher will give some numbers like 48 plus 60 minus 36 and then will throw the bag. The one she throws it to has to give the answer. Pupils cannot work the problem on paper. They have to work it in their minds.

PANSY LEONA LINDSEY, 6A Grade.

The Broad Jump

I can hardly wait for Field Day to come. I am very much interested in the running broad jump. I like to jump and expect to do pretty well on Field Day. Our best jumper in the running broad jump is Cages Watts. He jumped ten feet and six inches. I can jump between ten and twelve feet.

JUNIUS ANDREWS, 6A Grade.

How My Brother Was Hit

I was playing ball with my brother and some more boys. I hit the ball. My brother tried to catch it and it hit the end of his finger. The ball knocked his finger out of place.

CLYDE TEAGUE, 5A Grade.

Our Strange Visitor

Once an old man came to our house. He wore an owl-headed watch fob, which was held in place by an iron chain. But the funniest thing about his person was an adder snake-skin belt. An old coonskin cap sat straight upon his head. His feet were as large as an ox's.

Our dog was gnawing a bone, but when he saw the man he turned tail and ran. But he didn't run far before he ran into a bumble bees' nest and about a dozen lit on his back stinging like a hundred. Poor Tip (for that was his name) ran down a lane and did not come back till about midnight. I was watching for him, and, after lighting a lantern, went out to see what I could do for him. But I stepped back in amazement, for there stood a little dog, little legged, with a large body. "Whose dog is that?" thought I. The poor little creature whined. Then suddenly it dawned upon me that it was my dog stung so that its back swelled to an enormous size. "Come, Tip," said I, and led him to his kennel.

Early the next morning I got up to see about him, and was surprised to find the little old gentleman kindly treating his stings.

WILLIAM CLYDE MCKINNEY, 6A Grade.

Vacation

Vacation time is drawing near,
The news that we all love to hear.
No lessons to study, no rules to obey,
Nothing to do but to run and to play.

We can take long walks in the woodland bowers,
And hunt all kinds of wild wood flowers;
The leaves are so green, the flowers so bright,
We almost wish it wouldn't come night.

No more we'll hear the school bells ringing,
But instead the birds in the branches singing.
Vacation time is sweetest of all,
If only vacation wouldn't end in the fall.

NORINE JACKSON.

MARGUERITE HAWKINS, 6B Grade.

My Best Chance

It was the last inning of the game. The score was 4 and 3. I was the last to bat. But I was fanned out. We then lost the game.

LAWRENCE MILLER, 3B Grade.

The Best Inning

There were three boys on bases, and two outs. One of the boys knocked a home run. This inning won the game.

WILLIAM MILLER, 3B Grade.

The other day I was playing ball. A boy said he could catch the ball as hard as I threw it. I threw it and he missed it.

HAROLD MOODY, 2B Grade.

How I Found a Possum

One day I was playing in the back yard and I saw a possum in a tree. I called to my father. He came out there and got it. He put it in a box. The third night the possum got out.

RAEFORD SUMNER, 2A Grade.

We had been missing our chickens. I went down to the chicken house. I saw a possum. I caught him. I took it to Grandma. We ate it for dinner.

JAMES WALLEN, 2A Grade.

Play Time

Some other boys and I play with stick-horses. We ride them. We run chickens and play they are animals.

CHARLES DOVER, 2B Grade.

A boy came to my house yesterday. He was swinging me too high. I fell out and hurt myself.

NAOMI LEDFORD, 2B Grade.

One time I rolled over in a tire. Some little girls rolled me. I was the only girl that could roll over in it.

MIRIAM HADDON, 2B Grade.

On time I was playing tag. I hit the boy I was playing with real hard. He got mad and wanted to hit me.

FLORINE FITZGERALD, 2B Grade.

The Game I Like Best

I like to play Hide and Go Seek. When I go to hide the little pups follow me. When I put my head out they get in front of me. The counter comes and catches me. I have to be "It" nearly every other time.

LOUISE WRIGHT, 2A Grade.

The Playful Cat

Once I had a pet cat. Her name was Gypsy. I would hide and call her to come and find me. One day I hid, and she could not find me until I came out.

GLADYS BRADLEY, 3B Grade.

My Very Best Game

My very best game is "May I." The one who does not say "May I" goes to foot. I was very careful and did not have to go to foot.

MARGARET MILLER, 3B Grade.

I like to play Dare Base. I pull the children across the line. I put them in the mush pot. Some boy comes after them.

GLENN PARKER, 2A Grade.

I like to play Whoopee hide. I go hide. I say, "Whoopee." Somebody comes and hunts me.

JUNIOR PETERSON, 2A Grade.

I play Hide and Go Seek with my dog. I hide. It goes in the house. I call it. It comes and finds me.

CARL GARDNER, 2A Grade.

Health is Better than Wealth

Girls and boys this paragraph is interesting. Do you want to be strong and healthy? If you do, take physical exercise, as health is better than wealth.

WILLIAM HILL, 5B Grade.

If a boy wants to become strong and healthy, he must take physical exercises. He can do this by running, jumping and other outdoor sports; and, when he gets to be a man, he will find that health is better than wealth.

ROBERT WRIGHT, 6A Grade.

One of the important things we should do when we wish to be healthy is to take daily exercises. City schools are teaching them to the children. They improve your physical condition, and help you in many ways. Health is easily obtained, and is far better than wealth.

HERBERT ELLIS, 6A Grade.

If any boy wants to become healthy he can do it by taking physical exercises daily, as running, jumping, and other things like that. And when he gets to be a man he will have a strong body, which will enable him to gain wealth.

The Bug-Worm

About two weeks ago as I was plowing I noticed a curious object creeping from beneath a clod of dirt. I found this object to be half June bug and half grub worm. The first half of this curious object was really an insect, but the other half was a grub worm. I intended to keep it and watch it develop into a June bug, but a boy killed it.

RALPH WESTALL, 7A Grade.

A meeting of the Parent-Teachers' Association was held in the school auditorium, Thursday, April 27th.

A program of bird calls was given by the following boys and girls dressed in costumes representing birds:

Blue birds—

Louise Morison

Edward Baskerville

Red birds—

Edna Mitchell

Charles Jarrett

Goldfinches—

Evelyn Miller

Ralph Westall

Black birds—

Pauline Galloway

Edward Ferrell

Following the program the Association was called to order by the president, Mrs. W. E. Logan, and the usual business meeting held.

Mr. Howell, director of Manual Training of the city schools, gave an outline of the work being done on the playground equipment by the boys of the Manual Training classes.

Committees were appointed to make plans for a reception for teachers and parents of the West Asheville School. Miss Elmore's 7A Grade won the fern.

The last meeting of the year will be held Thursday, May 25th, at 3:00 o'clock. All parents and patrons of the school are cordially invited to be present at all meetings.

MRS. GEORGIANA MILLER, Secretary.

The children will be dressed in fancy costumes. This attractive affair will be held in commemoration of Memorial Day.

* * *

Miss Ray said the class that made the best record in Spelling during the second month could go on a picnic. The Afternoon Class made the best record and they invited the Morning Class to go along. They decided to go on Monday, April 17th. We went to Dr. Orr's pasture. The boys played ball while the girls swung on grapevine swings; the Afternoon Class won the baseball game. We ate our lunch under a big apple tree. M. A. Dumas found an o'possum while looking for eggs Miss Ray hid. We took some pictures, too. In the midst of our good time we had to come home.

5A Grade.

Before closing our last number of the magazine for the year, the staff wishes to express its appreciation to Miss Rickman. We thank her for the help which she gave us by typing our contributions before they were sent to the press.

Jokes

Miss St. John: "Alva, can you tell me the capital of Alaska?"

Alva: "No'm."

Miss St. John: "Correct."

* * *

Mrs. Binks (sighing): "My husband is just like our furnace, all day he smokes and at night he goes out."

* * *

Johnny: "Oh, mother! I came in fourth in the race!"

His Mother: "How many were there in the race?"

Johnny: "Four."

Sara Orr: "I'm gonna weigh today."

P. B. Orr: "Where to,"

Miss Nixon: "The idea of your coming up without your arithmetic! What were you doing last night, lying down on the job?"

Chick T.: "No, ma'am; I was lying down on the bed."

Baseball Notes

The West Asheville Baseball Team started off the season by winning five straight games. The boys were wildly enthusiastic and set their goal to win every game of the season. In the second half of the league, Fate turned against them and they lost to both Asheland and Park. There is yet one game to be played between Park and Asheland that will determine whether Park is ahead or whether Park and West Asheville tie for first place. West Asheville is still hoping to bring the cup "over the river."

* * *

West Asheville played an interesting game at Asheville School on Saturday, May 20th.

The members of the Ball Team look very professional in their baseball suits.
